

Anne Naqi

Interim Chief Human Resources Officer

Anne Naqi is the Interim Chief Human Resources Officer at Westinghouse Electric Company. In this role, she leads the company's global human resources strategy and operations including talent management; organizational development, total rewards and the Company's employee engagement activities.

Ms. Naqi brings more than 30 years of experience in human resources to this role, including three years at Westinghouse serving as Vice President of Global Talent and Director of Human Resources.

Prior to joining Westinghouse in April 2025, Ms. Naqi served as Vice President and Chief Human Resources Officer at Equitrans Midstream Corporation. She also served in human resources leadership roles at U.S. Steel and EQT.

Ms. Naqi received her bachelor's degree in Communications and Rhetorical Studies from Marquette University and a master's degree in Industrial and Labor Relations from Loyola University of Chicago.