

Pavan Pattada

Executive Vice President, Global Operations Services

Pavan Pattada is Executive Vice President, Global Operations Services at Westinghouse Electric Company. In this role, he oversees global supply chain, global engineering, manufacturing, and other technical capabilities that provide support to the business units.

Mr. Pattada joined Westinghouse in January 2019 following more than 15 years in increasingly responsible executive roles at Eaton Corporation. Throughout his career at Eaton, he served in global leadership roles with oversight of global supply chain management, transformation strategy and operations efficiency in manufacturing. Prior to Eaton, Mr. Pattada was a Manager at the operations and strategy practice of Deloitte Consulting.

Mr. Pattada holds a bachelor's degree from L.B.S. College of Advanced Maritime Studies in Mumbai, India, and a Master of Business Administration (MBA) from Duke University.