

Shravan Chopra

Chief Financial Officer

Shravan Chopra is Chief Financial Officer (CFO) at Westinghouse Electric Company. In this role, he is responsible for Westinghouse's global finance, strategy, M&A operations, procurement and information technology services – focusing on further strengthening the company's financial health to help position the company for continued strategic transformation and growth.

Mr. Chopra joined Westinghouse in 2019 as Vice President of Financial Planning & Analysis (FP&A) and Treasury and has played a key role in enhancing the reporting and business analysis. He was also instrumental in leading numerous capital market and enterprise-level transactions. Prior to joining Westinghouse, Mr. Chopra worked at Exelon Corporation for 18 years and held multiple roles in finance with increasing responsibility. Just prior to leaving Exelon, he was Senior Vice President Finance and Treasurer and was responsible for financial reporting, business planning, shared service finances and ensuring adequate liquidity for the company and its subsidiaries. Earlier in his career, Mr. Chopra led Exelon's M&A function, where he executed multiple transactions ranging in size from $20 billion to $100 million.

He holds a bachelor's degree in economics from University of Delhi and a Master of Business Administration from Duke University. Mr. Chopra is also a chartered accountant.