

Miles Fuller

Vice President, Transformation, and Chief of Staff to Chief Executive Officer

Dr. Miles Fuller is the Vice President of Transformation and Chief of Staff to the Chief Executive Officer at Westinghouse Electric Company. In this role, he oversees enterprise-wide transformation and cross-functional operational improvement initiatives and serves as strategic advisor and execution partner to the CEO.

Dr. Fuller brings a decade of experience in enterprise strategy, large-scale transformation, cost and operational efficiency improvements and C-suite and board advisory across global energy and industrial organizations.

Prior to joining Westinghouse in 2025, Dr. Fuller served as a Partner in the energy practice at Boston Consulting Group (BCG) – leading enterprise turnaround and large-scale change programs for global companies across sectors, including: energy, technology, manufacturing and healthcare.

Dr. Fuller earned a bachelor's degree in biology from Morehouse College and a doctorate in biomedical services from Northwestern University.